The screenshot shows the OpenWeather website interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with links like Guide, API, Dashboard, Marketplace, Pricing, Maps, Our Initiatives, Partners, Blog, For Business, Sign in, and Support. Below the navigation bar is a large banner with the OpenWeather logo and the tagline "Weather forecasts, nowcasts and history in a fast and elegant way".

The main content area displays weather information for London, GB, as of Nov 7, 03:33pm. The current temperature is 14°C, and there is a "Yellow wind warning". The weather is described as "Feels like 14°C. Broken clouds. Moderate breeze". Wind speed is 6.2m/s SSW, pressure is 1002hPa, humidity is 89%, and dew point is 13°C.

To the right of the weather data is a map showing the region around London, with labels for Oxford, Chelmsford, and Southend-on-sea. A precipitation forecast overlay on the map states "Precipitation will start within 27 minutes" and provides a timeline from 03:33pm to 04:33pm with corresponding precipitation amounts (0mm/h, 0.2mm/h, 0.5mm/h).

At the bottom of the page, there is a cookie consent banner that reads: "We use cookies which are essential for the site to work. We also use non-essential cookies to help us improve our services. Any data collected is anonymised. You can allow all cookies or manage them individually." with buttons for "Allow all" and "Manage cookies".

Search engine is very flexible. How it works:

- To make it more precise put the city's name, comma, 2-letter country code (ISO3166). You will get all proper cities in chosen country. The order is important - the first is city name then comma then country. Example - London, GB or New York, US.
